

~ Stable Products, Stable People ~

Pictorvision eclipse update:

While you may not have been able to be the first, you most certainly will not want to be the last to use Pictorvision's newest aerial camera system, the eclipse.

Equipped with XR Motion Management technology, 3 transitional steering modes, and geo pointing capabilities, the Pictorvision eclipse is truly the most advanced camera system on the market today. Pictorvision challenges you to discover first hand, how you can capture aerial shots never before thought possible.

Find out for yourself why the eclipse is considered the new standard for aerial cinematography.

eclipse filming NBC TV series
Trauma

eclipse at work in 40kt wind in Tenerife

eclipse filming Clash of the Titans

Equipment Upgrades

The eclipse can now be equipped with a rain deflector and can be outfitted with an extensive set of cameras and lenses.

Cameras include:

- Arri 435,
- Genesis,
- Sony F35,
- Sony F23,
- Red One,
- Beaucam (Vista Vision)

Lenses include:

10:1, 11:1 and 4:1,
plus a variety of primes.

Testimonials

We have told you all about the system's features and benefits, but don't just take our word for it. Here's what the industry leaders are saying...

"I have never seen such amazing aerial footage, it will bring so much to our movie. Despite the strong wind (40KT), the eclipse was rock solid."

~ Louis Leterrier, Director: Clash of the Titans

"One of the best performing systems available"

~ Kurt Soderling: Aerial DP

"Absolutely Great"

~ Peter McKernan, Pilot

"I was completely blown away"

~ Michael FitzMaurice, Aerial DP

On the Job

The eclipse has just completed 2 weeks of shooting in San Francisco with Kurt Soderling and Peter McKernan for the NBC TV series "Trauma" and is currently shooting the upcoming blockbuster "Clash of the Titans" on the Island of Tenerife.

To support the increasing demand for the eclipse, Pictorvision is adding another system to its arsenal in June.

Contact us, to find out how the eclipse can help you get the shot!

Come check out Pictorvision and the eclipse at Cine Gear Booth #122.

To request a rate card or for more information, please contact us today.